Profile

I'm eager to kick off my career as a junior developer, gain experience, and help the company grow with fresh ideas and skills.
As an enthusiastic computer science student passionate about software developement, currently studying for my Bachelor's degree at the Holon Institute of Technology (HIT). I excel in my studies because I love learning and solving problems. I also ran my own tech repair business, which helped me learn to quickly adapt and come up with new ideas. These skills have really improved my ability to program and develop software, I'm excited to use them in my future role.
